After all, Clay says he did not say anything against Bryan.

The ghost of Bryan will not down. He seems to stand in the way of the reorganizers.
All the nations of Europe ought to take a piece of Turkey.
Ben Tillman says what he thinks and don't wait for somebody to tell him what to say.

Georgia is not the state the loafers are hunting. They are afraid of the new vagrancy law.
We notice by one of our exchanges that Col. Alf. Herrington is thinking of moving to Hagan.

No excuse for loafing now. The army of the unemployed can find plenty to do in the cotton patches.

The Constitution and Bishop Candler have settled the race question at one lick. Great combination, this.

The Democratic party has no Mark Hannas. This is what worries the toddlers. At the proper time, the people will bring forth a Moses.

The Millen News comes to us this week brim full of news, local happenings, not only of Millen, but the whole section of country. The people of Millen should give the paper a cordial support.

The merchants at Dublin have raised a purse of $100 to assist in getting up an agricultural display from Laurens county at the State Fair, and it is announced that Laurens will go out after the first prize. Look out for Bulloch in that connection please.

What the newspapers are doing for Tom Eason is a plenty. Tom went a long way out of his way to give the newspapers a blow because they criticized the person commission, of which he was a member, on account of the Mamie DeCris scandal. When Tom sticks his head up for re-election again, he will find out where he is at.

Farmers' Congress.
During the state fair at Macon, a Farmers' Congress will be held. The farmers from every county in Georgia will meet and discuss questions relating to agriculture, and the best means of promoting the same. Various topics will be discussed by practical farmers who make farming their business. Governor Terrell has appointed the following farmers as delegates: John C. Cronley, Madison Warren, W. P. McDonald, M. J. Green, Leon Kingery, Jasper Franklin, James G. Brannen, and W. W. Mikell.

Stomach Trouble.
"I have been troubled with my stomach for the past four years," says D. L. Beach of Clover nook Farm, Greenfield Mass. "A few days ago I was induced to buy a box of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. I have taken a part of them and feel a great deal better. If you have any trouble with your stomach try a box of these Tablets. You are certain to be pleased with the result. For sale by all Druggists."

For Sale.

His Life Saved by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.
"B. L. Byer, a well known cooper of this town, says he believes Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy saved his life last summer. He was sick for a month with what the doctors call bilious dysentery and could get nothing to do him any good until he tried this remedy. It gave him immediate relief. He is now well, merchant, Hancock, Md. For sale by all Druggists."

PA PY TIMES IN GEORGIA.
Happy times in Georgia now, mountains to the sea,
Every feller's joyous, or at least he
Mornin's crisp an' sweet, evenin's hard to beat,
An' starlight jes' a-streamin' while we stroll on Easy street.

Happy times in Georgia now, business with a vim,
Hopes in the future an' our debts are growin' slim,
Mornin' of the male, children all in school,
Oh we're movin' on to glory on a Nancy Hanks' schedule.

Happy times in Georgia now, partners to the dance,
Musical jes' beginnin' midst a scene of elegance,
Sing an' make yer feet, Georgy's hard to beat,
An' we're stakin' our lot an' partnered on the good ol' Easy street.

Vagrancy Law Tested.
The Atlanta Journal of the 10th says the vagrancy law was tested in Judge Reid's court this morning when an attempt was made to prove it unconstitutional.

The matter came up through a petition for habeas corpus made in the case of one Jim Morton, a negro, convicted of vagrancy in Judge Calhoun's court September 14, and held in confinement through failure to give bond to the court in the sum of $100.
Attorney Crane, who represented the prisoner, contended that the act was unconstitutional in that it was merely punitive or vagrancy, and attached no penalty to the offense. He thereupon contended that the imprisonment of the negro was illegal, and asked for his release on these grounds. Judge Reid overruled the point, and the case will be appealed to the supreme court.

Harville Dots.
Hello, Mr. Editor:
Allow us a space in your paper, as old Harville has been down for a while but is now ready to be heard from again.
The farmers have had to stay out of the cotton patch and corn field on account of rain.

Mr. Dan W. Denmark, of this parish, has accepted a position as book-keeper with McElveen & Proctor, of Arcola. We wish him much success.
Mr. Charles E. Stapleton will leave the 20th of this month to re-enter the Medical college in Augusta. We regret very much to have him leave because of his being quite an attraction among the young folks of Harville.

Mr. Dean Anderson, who is now with Nelson & Morris, of Savannah, will visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Anderson, of Emitt, on the third Sunday in this month, and will also attend services at Black Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Griner, of Statesboro, visited relatives and friends at this place Sunday.
Misses Mahol and Essie Denmark, accompanied by their brother and Dr. J. M. McElveen, attended Mrs. America McElveen's birthday dinner, near Stillson, and report a well spent day.

Mr. Charles Stapleton has bought a new buggy and says he intends rushing the girls now.
Miss Stella Rustin is visiting her sisters, Mesdames C. B. Griner and George Parton, of Statesboro.
Miss Nellie Waters, of Statesboro, came down to visit her mother, Mrs. P. C. Water, and while here accepted a music class of twelve pupils and began teaching on Monday last.

The sing at Red Hill will close the fourth Sunday in this month. It is being taught by Mr. Lem Williams of Register.
FOR SALE.
My home place, in the 1820 G. M. Dist., near Portait, 217 acres of land; about one hundred acres of it in cultivation; good dwelling and out-buildings; the fencing in good repair, the land is in a good state of cultivation. For particulars address

Will Soon Begin Work.
The work of constructing the oil mill has about been completed. The machinery is about all in place both for the ginery and the oil mill. The site is out on the southeast side of the city by the tracks of the Savannah & Statesboro Railway. Three large buildings have been completed and a number of smaller ones. The Company owns 15 acres of land in that section and will build a large number of tenant houses a little later on. The ginery is expected to start up next Monday. One of the best equipped plants for ginning cotton to be found in this section of the state has been put in. The sea island ginners of the Davis pattern, manufactured right here in Statesboro. The latest appliances for the handling of the cotton and seed has been put in and every convenience to the people will be arranged. The oil mill will begin operations about November the first. The best machinery for the use in this department has been purchased that could be had in the market.

Mr. J. W. Wilson has been selected as General Manager for the plant. He will give the business his personal supervision. He will be on the grounds from early morn until late in the afternoon. This means that everything will go on right. Mr. Wilson is one of our best business men and the oil mill people are to be congratulated on securing him for this place. The Company will soon start to open up several streets leading to their property. The city will doubtless assist some in opening some of these streets as it is a matter of public benefit that these streets should be opened up for travel.

The cotton seed oil mill will cost something like $80,000, when completed and this will add much to the business interests of our town. It will keep money at home that has been going away heretofore. We need more such enterprises in this town and every one of them should be encouraged.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 15.—Mrs. Rose Schwartz has caused the arrest of Frank Schwartz, who, she says, came to the house and whipped her when he learned she had filed a suit of divorce.
Mrs. Floyd Durham took another course when her husband whipped her about the same time. She drove him from the house with a shotgun and fired at him as he ran. The witnesses say she hit him, but he was able to escape arrested.

Mrs. Charles Cooley admitted that her husband whipped her last night, but she told the police not to arrest him, as she wanted to leave him and go to Chicago today, whereas if he were arrested she would have to remain here to appear against him.—Ex.

A Treatise on Agricultural Chemistry.
AN INTERESTING READER.

Potash—its importance as a Plant Food; Sources From Which Derived; Wood Ashes—Statistical Deposits.
The only source of potash known to our fathers was, mainly wood ashes, and while potash from this source is a most excellent manure, yet evidently the quantity available is quite limited. The great majority of soils, especially those which contain much clay, usually hold a large reserve of potash, and do not appear to require the special application of potash as a manure. Light sandy soils on the other hand, and some clay soils also appear to be quite deficient in potash and are much benefited by application of this fertilizer. Soils of this nature, therefore, stand as much in need of constant potash manuring as of phosphoric acid and nitrogen applications.

Wood ashes, whilst they may be cheap and easily obtained in countries where large forest areas are to be seen, are in older countries, especially where they have been used for centuries, a scarce commodity. Long before fertilizer became a commercial commodity wood ashes were highly thought of by farmers, and as the ashes were so easily obtained. Long before fertilizer became a commercial commodity, farmer buys ashes he buys the fact that ashes vary so widely in their contents of potash, and as a rule, ashes from hard woods are richer in potash than those from soft woods. The ash of the red oak for instance contains about 6 per cent of potash, that of the hickory about 9 per cent, some pine woods about 4 1/2 per cent. No definite percentage, however, can be laid down for any special wood, as the ash varies so much in different localities, and the wood of different parts of the same tree will vary, the ashes from the top and young limbs being richer in potash than the ashes from the body or trunk of the tree.

It is impossible to fix the value of a lot of ashes, except by special analysis of the particular lot, owing to the great variability in composition, and owing to the further fact that the ashes may have been leached or mixed with more or less dirt. The average analysis for good unleached ashes may be taken as 5 per cent of potash, 1 1/2 per cent of phosphoric acid, and 1 1/2 per cent of lime. According to the values for fertilizers adopted for the present season, a ton of good average ashes at the cost should be equal to four dollars and fifteen cents. This calculation allows no value to the lime, although of course it has a decided value on such soils as are deficient in it. Luckily since the middle of the last century, farmers have been no longer compelled to rely on ashes as a source of potash, but have been able to adopt their stead almost universally what are known as the German or Staassfurt potash salts.

The salts are mined in Staassfurt in northern Germany, in the province of Saxony. They were discovered by the Prussian government while boring for rock salt about the year 1827. At first they were considered worthless, but soon the great Chemist Liebig began publishing his discoveries concerning plant growth and nutrition, showing potash to be an essential and much-needed element in the growth and development of plants. This led to the development of the potash mines, and the utilization for agricultural use of the precious salts contained in them. The first potash salt works, Continuous Rye, was established in 1827. Some of the crude ore is melted for agricultural use just as they are due for the mines and are known as Kalinit, Carnallite, Sylvinit. The Kalinit contains on an average of about 12 1/2 per cent of potash, the Carnallite about 10 per cent, and the Sylvinit 16 per cent of potash. There is a great demand for these products all over the world, and the freightage to long distant points makes them a valuable commodity. It became desirable to concentrate the potash in these natural products as much as possible, so as to avoid the cost of transportation on the salts contained in them useless to agriculture.

The great factories of the "German Kali Works" now prepare from the crude Kalinit, Carnallite and Sylvinit, muriates of potash containing 45 per cent, 50 per cent and 65 per cent of actual potash, also sulphates of potash containing from 45 to 52 per cent of actual potash, also what is known as "Soluble Manure Salts" with 26 per cent of potash. These complete and reliable salts of all these various products and some others will be found on another page of this bulletin.

These deposits are practically inexhaustible in quantity and will supply the agricultural world for many years to come. Should they ever become exhausted, the discovery of new deposits will be made, and if not, potash could doubtless be obtained, though of course, at greater cost, from such sources as those of the "Dead Sea." The need, therefore, be no fear of the supply running short. Having now given you a brief account of the different raw materials used in the manufacture of "guano," or commercial fertilizers, we will next consider the methods in use by the manufacturers for converting these raw materials into finished products.

The Acid Phosphate Industry.—Description of Process of Manufacture. The foundation of the great modern industry of commercial fertilizers is the manufacture of superphosphate.

THINE EYES.
BY JOHN F. BALANTINE.
Thou hast diamonds and pearls of rare beauty.
Thou hast all that the heart can desire;
Thine eyes shine far brighter than jewels—
What more can my darling desire?
On thine eyes, bright as stars of the evening,
Have I written and tuned to my lyre
Whole volumes of rapturous sonnets—
What more can my darling desire?
With thine eyes of unquenchable splendor
Hast thou kindled my heart into fire
And forced me to kneel as thy suitor
What more can my darling desire?

JAY ITEMS.
Hello, Mr. Editor, we have been absent for some time, but here we come again asking for a little space in your valuable paper.

C. B. STEVEN'S LETTER
Commissioner of Agriculture to Georgia Farmers.
COTTON AND CORN BACKWARD.

Long Continued Wet Weather Has Delayed Planting—Hopes Entertained for More Propitious Seasons.
Tails has been an unusually backward season for our two staple crops. The long continued wet weather delayed planting, and in consequence caused much despondency among some of our farmers. But Nature as a general rule brings in a compensation somewhere and somehow. The backward season will probably be followed by such conditions that during the next two or three months, by intelligent, well directed labor, assisted by improved cotton machinery, all the advantages may be overcome and Georgia retain her high rank as a corn and cotton state.
The present conditions are about as follows:
In the counties of north Georgia cotton planting is well advanced, and in some of them about completed. In some of the more southern counties of the northern belt the cotton is coming up and doing fairly well, although in some places the stands are poor owing to continuous rains and cool weather. In some places the early corn has poor stands, in others it is doing fairly well.
In Middle Georgia there are in many places complaints that cotton is being retarded by rain and cool nights and want of sun, which is true. In some of the corn to some extent. At the same time good stands of both are reported in many places.

Owes His Life To A Neighbor's Kindness.
Mr. D. P. Daugherty, well known throughout Mercer and Sumner counties, W. Va., most likely owes his life to the kindness of a neighbor. He was almost hopelessly afflicted with diarrhoea; was attended by two physicians who gave him little, if any relief, when a neighbor learning of his serious condition, brought him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which cured him in less than twenty-four hours. For sale by Druggists.

Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.
For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes catarrh. Repeated attacks of indigestion inflame the mucous membranes lining the stomach and expose the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete much instead of the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.
Kodol Dyspepsia Cure
relieves all inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the stomach, protects the nerves, and cures bad breath, sour risings, a sense of fullness after eating, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles.
Kodol Digests What You Eat
Bottles only. Regular size, 21c. Extra large, 35c. Prepared by E. O. DWIGHT & CO., Chicago, Ill. For sale by W. H. Ellis.

A Boy's Wild Ride For Life.
With family around expecting him to die and a son riding for life, 18 miles, to Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, coughs and colds, W. H. Brown, of Leesville, Ind., endured death's agonies from asthma; but this wonderful medicine gave instant relief and soon cured him. He writes: "I now sleep soundly every night." "He marvelous cures of consumption, pneumonia, bronchitis, coughs, and colds and give pride its matchless merit for all throat and lung troubles. Guaranteed bottles $1.00 and $1.50. Trial bottles free at W. H. Ellis' drug store.

Distress After Eating Cured.
Judge W. T. Holland of Greensburg, La., who is well and favorably known, says: "Two years ago I suffered greatly from indigestion. After eating, great distress would invariably result, lasting for an hour or so and my nights were restless. I concluded to try Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and it cured me entirely. Now my sleep is refreshing and digestion perfect." Sold by W. H. Ellis.

A New Terror.

Automobile perambulator are now being used in Paris. A small seat in fixed at the back for the nurse who controls the motor. (Daily paper.)

In Great Central police court Rodert Ellsmore Smith, a clean shaven youth, aged one year and three months, was brought before Mr. Ploughden, charged with driving a motor perambulator to the common danger and with violently assaulting the police.

The prisoner, who had apparently no visible means of support, was carried into court by his chauffeur. He was understood to plead "guilty," thought it was difficult to understand what he said, owing to an unfortunate impediment in his speech.

Police Constable .083 states that he was on duty in Edgware road when he saw the prisoner in the momentary absence of the chauffeur (who had descended to do up a boot lace) deliberately start the mechanism. The machine darted forward at a terrific pace, scattering a sparrow and two dogs in all directions. A serious accident was only averted by the presence of mind of a bystander who pulled the lever just in time. Prisoner then made hideous faces at him, said "Goo-goo, ga ga," and used other expressions that he would not care to repeat. He next made a grab at his whistle and tried to pull his mustache. Prisoner then made hideous faces at him, said "Goo-goo, ga ga," and used other expressions that he would not care to repeat. He next made a grab at his whistle and tried to pull his mustache.

Mr. Ploughden is a wise child that knows its own father. (Laughter) which there was no attempt to suppress.)

Ultimately the prisoner was remained in order that inquiries might be made into the state of his mind. He was allowed, and prisoner was removed by the chauffeur, gesticulating wildly and using language which it is impossible to render in print. —Punch.

Stevens for Hearst.

Commissioner of Agriculture O. B. Stevens wants W. R. Hearst of New York, for president of the United States. Mr. Stevens believes Hearst is the best man for the position.

"I am for Hearst," says Mr. Stevens, "and I believe that seven out of every nine men in Georgia are for him." "Hearst is in full sympathy with the Southern people. He is a progressive man and would make us an excellent official. I think he should be nominated on the Democratic ticket and I believe he could win. 'I know Mr. Hearst personally, and I know of the work he has done in the South. Besides his great papers have stood by the South in everything. Gorman is a good man, but Hearst, in my opinion, is the winning man.' Mr. Stevens was one of the original Hearst men in Georgia and for some time he has been talking Hearst for president.

"It is certain that he is not alone in wanting the distinguished New Yorker for president. There are thousands of men in Georgia who want him."

A Remarkable Record.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for over thirty years, during which time many millions of bottles have been sold and used. It has long been the standard and main reliance in the treatment of croup in thousands of homes, yet during all this time no case has ever been reported to the manufacturers in which it failed to effect a cure. When given as soon as a child becomes hoarse or even as soon as the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is pleasant to take, many children like it. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by all Druggists.

Something new for the toilet: Hall's Cichona Hair Tonic; an article, once used will always find a place on the dressing table of particular people. W. H. Ellis, agent.

Communicated.

Cameron, Texas, Sept. 13, 1903. Editors Statesboro News, Gentlemen:

To describe the state of Texas intelligently we will have to draw imaginary lines and subdivide the state into eight different sections or parts, each part differing from the others in some way—either in topography or production, and often both. As I have already given a description of the blackland belt in a former letter, the Eastern part of the state comes next. That part which borders on the state of Louisiana and I suppose will average 75 or 100 miles in width and perhaps seven hundred miles long. This belt is heavily timbered with a mixed growth of large timber, consisting in part of pine, walnut, hickory, dogwood, beech, sweet gum, black gum, red, white, and oak, persimmon and different kinds of haw.

The country is well watered and has many springs—many of them mineral, mostly chalybeate. Iron ore abounds in such immense quantities as to defy computation; and in the southern part of this belt is the famous oil fields of Texas that need not be described here. The rivers abound in fish. The soil is moderately good and will yield corn, cotton, sugar cane, sweet potatoes, oats, etc., also the finest of vegetables and fruits, especially peaches and grapes, but it is the stickiest country that I ever tried to live in. Next to this comes a belt of pine land counties in the S. E. corner of the state that will produce everything that grows in the East. This belt is not very healthy, but that section, soil not very strong and land was very cheap until oil was discovered there, which inflated the price.

We will next draw an imaginary line, east and west, parallel with the coast; say fifty miles wide, and perhaps two hundred or more miles long. This is a fine subtropical country and many farmers that have visited this section say that it is the best part of the state for men of limited means.

Like Florida, it is not a country for small grain and is not very good for corn, unless the grain be planted early in February and it will be in roasting ear in May. This coast country has the reputation of being healthy. The products are about like those of Florida, including some of the finest rice plantations in the south. The price of land is reasonable, the society said to be good—hardly ever any cold weather, the waters abound in fish, and from October to March the wild ducks, geese, brants and cranes are there by thousands from the frozen North; and you may be assured that alligators, rattlesnakes, moccasins, mosquitoes, etc. are there.

Within the last few years many farmers from the grain growing middle and northern counties of the state have removed there to engage in truck farming and most of them are reported to be doing well.

The next in order is the south western part of the state, almost rainless but with much fertile land and much poor one also, but is reported to be as healthy as it can be anywhere upon this earth of ours. The legislature made laws to encourage irrigation in the state and most especially in this dry district, the description of the method of which I enclose you a printed slip which I hope you will publish as a novelty or curiosity to your readers.

Irrigation Has Completely Changed Conditions in West Texas.

[Special to the Chronicle.] Corpus Christi, Texas, Aug. 18.—Less than two years ago a poor farmer persuaded a large ranchman to permit him to use an artesian well on the ranch to experiment in irrigation. A patch of land that would not furnish grazing for three steers was reluctantly partitioned off, and the farmer told him to go ahead. He did so, and cleared in one season 400 by raising vegetables. This opened the eyes of the stockman, and he concluded that truck farming would beat cattle raising, but most of his land was off the line of any railroad. He forthwith sought an interview with other ranchmen and they sought that indefatigable railroad promoter, Uriah Lott. The St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexican road was then nearly the entire distance to Brownsville, and the owners of the ranches have become converts to diversified farming. They have sunk hundreds of artesian wells all along the proposed route and will sink hundreds more. Innumerable truck farms, supplied with fresh artesian water for irrigation, will be placed upon the market before the road reaches the Rio Grande river. The same conditions will also prevail along the Arizona-Pasadena extension. When the Rio Grande river is reached great irrigation canals will be dug for rice farming.

As vegetables will mature here earlier than in California, this section is soon destined to become the greatest truck growing region in the United States. And this poor farmer who persuaded the rich ranchman to permit him to experiment with the artesian well is responsible for the rapid development now materializing. There would have been a railroad to Brownsville years ago had the ranch owners realized the magnificent agricultural possibilities of the country.

This part of the state has the reputation of being a great health resort for consumptives and those afflicted with bronchial troubles. I doubt if it can be equaled for these complaints anywhere else in the United States.

Nearly the same conditions and descriptions apply to West Texas, only that the railroads tapped the west first and gave it the start several years ahead of the south-west, with the result that the west already has thousands of acres under a system of successful irrigation which is yielding large profits in lands that up to a few years ago were considered worthless. The Pecos, (Pecos river) rises in the mountains of New Mexico and runs south into Texas and empties into the Rio Grande. It is supplied by mountain springs and seldom increases or decreases in volume, except in the spring time. A few years ago some wealthy men were prospecting in that part of the west and were not slow to perceive that these waters could be utilized to water the fertile, though dry, valleys on the borders of the river. They backed their judgment with money and the results have been wonderful. Other capital and labor followed and now, for miles up and down the river, and far from flourishing gardens and green fields of grain in that rainless region of country. Great is the state of Texas.

None Escape Of Turk.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 18.—Further reports from Kasteria say the city is burning and that the massacre of its population (estimated to have numbered ten thousand persons) was indescribably terrible. The Turks slaughtered indiscriminately Bulgarians and Greeks, men, women and children.

MOTHERS KILL CHILDREN AND EAT THEIR BODIES.

London, Sept. 18.—The Westminster Gazette says a well known London journalist cables from Belgrade as follows: "Starting with pro-Turkish sympathies, I have found overwhelming evidence convincingly proving that the Turkish atrocities are rather under estimated in the reports of British consuls, bankers and unprejudiced people. 'Foreign Minister Tzokoff tells me he knows cases of starving women in the forest killing two of their own children to preserve the third. The forest wanderers will all perish of cold within two months.' 'Europe,' adds the Westminster Gazette, 'dealing with the Kasteria reports, is bound to interfere whether by conference or as a concert.'"

GOVERNMENT OF GERMANY REVIEWS BELGIAN STRATEGY. Berlin, Sept. 18.—The German government holds in view four points in the Balkan situation:

First—Does Russia regard the time for the break up of European Turkey as arrived?

The German ministers have been unable to penetrate Russia's ultimate intentions and note with displeasure the concerted attacks of the St. Petersburg papers on Germany, which is being described as beginning the back-swing and taking pleasure in the expiration of Slavs in European Turkey.

Second—If Prince Ferdinand is persuaded that his throne is dependent on a war with Turkey then war is certain. Every effort should be made to tranquilize Prince Ferdinand's mind.

Third—The meeting of the sovereigns attended by their foreign ministers is expected to clear up the obscurities of the situation and enable German statesmen to forecast the future. The emperor of Germany and Austria meet at Vienna today.

The Czar meets Emperor Francis Joseph September 20th and will then visit the king of Italy.

Fourth—The project for an Austrian Russian joint occupation of Macedonia has been wholly abandoned and there is not the least likelihood of a renewal of the preparation.

Despite the fact that the Balkan situation has grown worse, Turkish funds rose again on the bourse today.

MILITIA OF LONDON READY TO FIGHT TURKS. Chicago, Sept. 18.—Many members of the Illinois militia have volunteered their services to Macedonia in the war against the Turks, according to a statement made by the local Macedonia committee.

TURKS BLOW TO ATOMS BY BOMBS FROM RUSSIA.

Sofia, Sept. 18.—A Turkish war balloon is reported to have been hovering for the last three days close to the Bulgarian frontier in the vicinity of Heskovo.

A severe fight has occurred at Ullitza in the mountains of Kratoev between 2,000 Turks and eighty insurgents. It continued for eight hours. The insurgents used bombs with deadly effect. About 100 Turks are reported to have been killed and many were wounded. The insurgents had two men wounded.

A fight is also reported to have taken place at Rupelaso, near Seres, insurgent bands recently surrounded and annihilated a whole company of Turks. The bands then fled to the mountains. Three battalions of Turkish troops have been sent from Salonica to pursue them.

A small party of peasant refugees, near Presba, who were starving in the mountains, started to seek food. At Nakaletz they were met by Turkish soldiers, who killed them all and horribly mutilated the women.

TWO HUNDRED HOUSES HAVE BEEN DESTROYED. St. Petersburg, Sept. 18.—Later official reports from Comel, in the government of Moghreb, where the fighting between Christians and Jews arose September 11, increase the death list of the Jews to five. About two hundred houses were destroyed and sixty-six persons were killed. The official messenger says the disturbances at Comel were provoked by the provoking attitude of the Jews towards the Christians.

Hog Feed.

One of the most valuable crops to the farmers is hog feed, and nothing pays better than raising bacon. Col. E. C. Moseley, one of our leading farmers has solved the problem of hog feed. On one acre of chufas and peas on new land, he will raise enough stuff to fatten thirty head of hogs. In addition that pigders and potatoes are largely raised, and any farmer can raise plenty of bacon, if he will raise plenty of hog feed.

Fit?

There's the point! There's the rub! There is one shoe for women that has built itself up to the top notch of popularity on fit. That shoe is the "QUEEN QUALITY."

If you want to see your foot look a full size smaller—if you want to spare yourself of your daily fatigue—if you want to own shoes which will be constant delight and last longer because they fit accurately, buy a single pair of "Queen Quality."
